RURAL CEMETERY

Compiled by the Genealogy Workshop
of The Huntington Historical Society,
Huntington, New York

Introduction

In 1991 a group of volunteers from the Huntington Historical Society, Huntington, New York, extracted records from a microfilm copy of the interment records and plot cards of the Huntington Rural Cemetery in that community. These records cover a period from 1853 to 1990 and include over 9,000 names of people from Maine to California. Most burials are from the local area.

The index shows five fields (surname, given name, last residence, burial date, volume and page in the microfilm copy) allowing the researcher to determine whether his or her ancestor is buried in the cemetery. Where no state is listed in the last residence column, the state is New York. Volume and page numbers refer to detailed records giving age at death, date of death, cause of death, location of the grave, names of others buried in the same plot, and in some cases, owner of the plot with an address. Some burials are re-interments, possibly many years after death and burial elsewhere; some records relate to removals and may indicate the location of a later gravesite. Each date was entered as written even though it may be invalid (ex. 31 September). This compilation should be considered a basic research tool.

Many individuals contributed countless hours toward this project and the editors wish to acknowledge their dedication to the Huntington Historical Society, Genealogical Workshop.
