NOTES.—This name, more usually written Campin, came into the parish with Mr. Edward Camppen, in 1794, when, in the Assessment for Poor Rate for Michaelmas, 1794, to Lady Day, 1795, we find the following under Marsh Street:—

Mr. Edward Camppen House	£24
for Hood's land	14
for Mr. Snell's barn	3

The preceding tenant was his kinsman, Mr. Francis Wragg, the coachmaster, whose tombstone hard by, is dealt with hereafter.

His marriage licence (Bishop of London), dated 7 Oct., 1777, describes him as of St. Stephen's, Coleman Street, London, widower, and he is to marry Mary Crosier, of St. Mary-le-bone, Middlesex, spinster, aged over 21, at St. Mary-le-bone, while the register shows that they were duly married the following day. Of the marriage there was only one child, Mary, who died, as the inscription shows, unmarried, in 1864, aged 88.

Edward Campen, as the name is spelt, appears in The Universal British Directory, 1797, Vol. V., as a member of the Innholders' Co., and of Coleman St., a keeper of livery stables.

Administration of his estate (under £7,500) as late of Walthamstow, Essex, was granted on 4 Jan., 1815, to Mary Camppen, spinster, his daughter and only child, Mary, his relict, first renouncing (P.C.C. Act Book).

The death of his widow, at Walthamstow, is recorded in The Times of the 20th June, and that of his daughter, Mary Camppen, at Dalston, in the issue of the 12th August.

George Crosier was apparently a near relative of Mrs. Camppen, and his death is thus recorded in The Times of the 13th Sept., 1854:—

"On the 12th, after a few days' illness, Mr. George Crosier of No. 9, Quality Court, Chancery-lane, in the 34th year of his age."

Abstract of the following will is given, as it mentions the above Mr. and Mrs. Camppen and contains references to other Walthamstow folk:—

 4 March, 1870. Sir James Vallentin, of Rectory Manor, aged 55.

NOTES.—Sir James Vallentin came into the parish between 1851 and 1862, in which latter year he was living at Shern Lodge, Shernhall Street. He was born in 1814; was originally of French extraction, and was partner in Messrs. Booth & Co., of Cow Cross, distillers. He was member of the Court of Assistants of the Weavers' Co. and Distillers' Co., and having a fine archaeological taste made an extensive and rare collection of antiquities. Some of these, shortly before his death, he presented to the Guildhall Library, receiving in return, by order of the Common Council, a copy of all the medals commemorating royal visits to the City of London. He was knighted, with six others, including his colleague, Sir Joseph Causton, by Queen Victoria, at Windsor Castle, on the 11th December, 1869, on the occasion of the opening of Holborn Viaduct.

He had the following arms granted to him, as of Norwood, and Rectory Manor, Walthamstow, in 1866:—

Ermure an esquire's helmet proper between three heraldic roses gules.

Crest: A lion rampant proper holding in its forepaws an heraldic rose gules, its right foot resting on an esquire's helmet of the first.

Motto: Est encore temps.

He was Overseer for Walthamstow, 1859-1860, Churchwarden 1860-1862, and was Sheriff of London and Middlesex 1870. At his death he left a widow and family, the eldest being a son of about 20 years of age. He had travelled much, especially late in life in the United States. Mr. Under-Sheriff Crosley attended in his official capacity at the interment. The local volunteers were also in attendance, together with about fifty friends of the deceased. An account of the funeral is given in The City Press of the 5th March, 1870, page 5.

All three have death notices in The Times: that of S. H. Vallentin in issue of the 4th June, 1862; of O. Vallentin in the issue of the 11th December, 1867, which shows he died at Rectory Manor; and of Sir James Vallentin in the issue of the 26th February, 1870, which shows that he also died at Rectory Manor.

The Vallentin inscription in the church is given in Monograph 4, p. 11.

APPENDIX I.

THE LOXHAM FAMILY.

The first member of this Lancashire family to come into the parish was William Loxham, son of Edward Loxham, of Kirkham, co. Lancs. He arrived some time between 1744 and 1747, in which latter year he appears in the Poor Rate Book under Hale End, the rent for his house and land being £20. In the former year the corresponding entry is as follows:—"Mr. Laybanks, land, £20 rent." (Lists for the intervening period are missing.) He was born in or about 1694, and his marriage agreement, dated 1721, shows that he is about to marry Lydia Hargrove, according to the husband, and Lydia Hargraves, according to the wife. His business was that of a hatter and sword-cutler which he carried on under the Old Royal Exchange, in Cornhill. By his wife he had three children, who died infants, all buried in the now destroyed church of St. Christopher-le-Stocks, hard by, viz.,

1. Edward privately baptized 9th June 1723 and buried "in the second Inward pew no 11 South Isle," 10th June 1723.
2. Female child "borne alive but dyed unbaptized," buried privately, 19th May, 1725.
3. Lydia, privately baptized 19th June 1727, buried 18th Aug. 1728, "in pew no 11. South Isle."

At Walthamstow, the Loxhams lived at "The Chestnuts," Hale End, and the house is shown in C. Smith's *Map of the Country twelve miles round London, 1822 with the name "Loxham Esq."

Wm. Loxham signs the Vestry Minutes for the first time 30th July, 1748. He served as Overseer 1751-1752, Churchwarden 1756-1758, Surveyor of the Highways, Upper Division 1753-1758.

In the Male Servants' Tax of 1780 Wm. Loxham of Walthamstow pays for one servant.

His Will, dated 24th January, 1777, describes him as William Loxham, Citizen and Cutler of London, now of Hale End, Essex. After mentioning his marriage settlement in connection with which he became bound in bond in the penalty of £1,200 unto Joseph Newdick, citizen and fletcher of London, he leaves to his wife Lydia £600. To her, 2 freehold houses in Shoe Lane, London, now in possession of Eleanor Gyles, wid. for life and at her decease to nephew Robert, son of my brother, Robert Loxham. He therefore gives interest of said £500 3%, Consolidated Annuities after death of wife to niece Alice wife of Robert Wilson, of Preston, Lancs., gent. and daughter of said Elizth. Whitehead for life and at her death to her daughter and daughters instead of the Elizabeth Whitehead also to her the residue of his estate given under his Will to said Elizabeth Whitehead.

* There are four editions of this map, 1822, 1824, 1831 and 1835, but the first is the only one of value for identifying the residences of houses, as all have the same surnames.

Owing to some alterations in the Will there appeared before the Surrogate, on the 25th July, 1780, Edward Loxham, of St. Michael, Cornhill, sword cutler, a Robert Loxham, of the same parish, Insurance broker, and made oath that they were two of the executors of Wm. Loxham, late of Hale End, in the parish of Walthamstow, co. Essex, who died on the 10th inst. and that they were present on the said day at the deceased late dwelling house at Hale End when search was made for his will and the said will was found in a chest of drawers in his bed chamber and at the time of the finding thereof the alterations and the Codicil were as they are at present. After being sworn the will, with the codicil, was proved by three executors three days after (P.C.C. 365 Collins.)

His death is thus recorded in The St. James' Chronicle or British Evening Post, of the 11th-13th July, 1780:—

"Yesterday at Hale End, near Woodford, Essex, in the 86th Year of his age, Mr. Loxham, many years Hatter and Sword Cutler, under the Royal Exchange."

After his death the house at Hale End was offered for sale and the advertisement relative to same appeared in The Morning Post and Daily Advertiser of the 24th April, 1781, page 3, column 4. It states that the house is to be sold on the 1st May, and describes it as a copyhold estate at Hale End, between Walthamstow and Woodford, late in the possession of Wm. Loxham. Calls it a brick dwelling house, consisting of 4 rooms on a floor, 2 pleasure and 1 kitchen garden, a canal, 2 fish ponds, 3 fields of meadow land, all adjoining, the whole containing upwards of 15 acres. Lydia Loxham, the widow, made her will 8th December, 1782, proved at London (P.C.C. 521 Fountain) 12th October, 1792. She describes herself as of Woodford, co. Essex, widow of Wm. Loxham, late Citizen and Cutler of London, deceased, and desires to be buried in the same vault wherein her husband was interred. She states that nephews Edward L. and Robert L. have standing in their names in Trust for her £1,000 South Sea Stock. She leaves the interest of same to her niece Mary Arundell of Hackney, co. Middlesex, widow of Willoughby Arundell, late of same place, deceased, for life and at her death the interest to her four children, Mary A., Martha A., Thomas A. and William A. equally, with principal at 21. She leaves £963 in her name, in 3% Reduced Bank Annuities as follows:—Interest of £400 to her brother Solomon Hargraves of Liverpool, Lancs., gent., for life and at his decease to her niece Mary Arundell £300 capital sum part of said £400 and the remaining £100 equally to her nieces eldest daughter, Mary Arundell, who lives with her and to Elizabeth Roughsedge of Liverpool. £10 towards funeral expenses of said Solomon Hargraves, £50 each to niece Lydia Loxham, daughter of Edward Loxham, and nephew Edward Loxham, £20 to Jane his wife and £50 to nephew Robert Loxham, to sd. niece Mary Arundell all her wearing apparel, table cloths and household linen and £30 for mourning and to her eldest daughter Mary Arundell now living with her £20 for mourning, to goddaughter [] Paulan wife of [] Paulan £10, to Susannah Clarke of St. Albans, widow, £10, to Hannah Hemmingway of Higham Hill, co. All rest she leaves to her nephew Robert Loxham, and she appoints him and Edward Loxham executors. She duly signs the Will and the witnesses are David Mitchell, Thomas King of Cutlers' Hall. The Will was proved by Robert Loxham, Esq., her nephew, with power reserved for Edward Loxham, Esq., the nephew and remaining executor.

The Public Advertiser of Tuesday, the 9th October, 1792, records her death as follows:—

"Saturday se'nnight, died at Woodford, in Essex, in the 88th year of her age, Mrs. Lydia Loxham, relict of the late Mr. William Loxham, hatter and sword-cutler, Cornhill."

The next name on the tombstone is that of Robert Loxham. As William and Lydia Loxham left no surviving issue, the future occupiers of the Hale End house were the descendants of his brother, the Rev. Robert Loxham, as shown in the pedigree.

Robert left an interesting will, as it names so many relations. It was proved at London (P.C.C. 292 Kenyon) 26th April, 1802, by the executors. An abstract is appended:—

His death is given in The Gentleman's Magazine, No. 72, Pt. 1, page 381, as follows:—

"15th April, 1802, at Woodford, in his 75th year, Mr. Robert Loxham, late of the Royal Exchange, insurance broker."

The next name on the Altar-tomb is Richard Loxham. He was nephew to the last named, was an attorney, and his death is in The Times of the 21st October, 1813, as follows:—

"On Friday, the 15th inst., at his chambers in New Inn, Richard Loxham, Esq."

In his will he describes himself as of New Inn, Middlesex, attorney at law, and states therein that if he dies in the vicinity of London he desires "to be laid in the Vault in Walthamstow churchyard in which my late uncle Robert is laid." He says, "My freehold estates will descend to my brother Robert Loxham, and I give him all the chattel, leasehold property, also to him all arrears of rent and furniture, plate, clothes, wearing apparel, watches, seals, rings, trinkets, etc., also all my MSS. books and papers." To each of his sisters, Elizabeth Loxham, Ann Loxham and Emm £1,000 and all rest to said brother Robert Loxham and sister Elizabeth Loxham, equally, they to be my executor and executrix. Dated 2nd Sept., 1811, and signed Richard Loxham. Witnesses: Joseph Knowles, New Inn, Charles Lunn and R. Baillie, clerks to Sykes Knowles. By a Codicil, he adds:—

I give all real and personal estate and effects vested in me under Indenture of Lease and Release dated 22nd and 23rd June, 1803, respectively made between Susanna Gordon, of Southampton, spinster, of 1st part and myself, unto and to the use of George Short, of Exeter, Esq., and Ralph Barns, of same City, Esq., for all such estate and interest I shall have in said estate upon Trusts in the said Indenture of Release expressed, and I appoint sd. G. S. and R. B. my executors so far as regards all the monies, etc., which at my decease shall be vested in the said Trusts. Dt. 2nd Sept., 1811. Signed Richard Loxham. The will was proved at London, with codicil, 2nd November, 1813 (P.C.C. 553 Heathfield) by Robert Loxham, power reserved to Elizabeth Loxham.

The next name on the tomb is that of Elizabeth Loxham, daughter of the Rev. Richard Loxham, Rector of Stickney, Lincolnshire, by Elizabeth his wife. She married her cousin, Robert Loxham, son of Edward Loxham, and they both had a common grandfather in the Rev. Robert Loxham, Rector of Workington, Cumberland, etc. Her death notice is in The Times of 24th August, 1825.

Robert Loxham, of The Chestnuts, Hale End, her husband, is the next name on the tomb. He filled the office of churchwarden 1826-1828, to which he had been nominated the five previous years.

The last is their daughter Elizabeth, who died, unmarried, in 1861.

The will of the above Richard Loxham, of Stickney, Lincolnshire, dated 5th April, 1785, was proved 27th October of the same year (P.C.C. 517 Ducard). It contains no Walthamstow references.

Edward Loxham, father of the above Robert, of The Chestnuts, in his will dated 18th April, 1798, and proved (P.C.C. 492 Walpole) 26th June following, calls himself Citizen and Cutler of London, but residing at Liverpool, county Lancashire. He desires to be buried in Kirkham churchyard, county Lancashire, in the same grave as his wife and leaves to his son Robert certain property in Lancashire and "copyhold estate or customary estates held of the manor of Salisbury Hall in the county of Essex," subject to £400 which he leaves to trustees (they include "my brother Robert Loxham of Woodford, Essex Esq.") to be given to his son Robert. The will mentions many relations who are contained in the pedigree.

Under his Will he leaves to his son Robert "my 2 handled silver cup," to his daughter Lydia Rigby "my India counterpane," and to his daughter Ann Bridges "my stamped counterpane."

One of the witnesses to the Will is Richard Loxham, of New Inn, London.

His brother, William Loxham (great-grandfather of the 1st Baron Farrer) made his Will as of Woodford, Essex, Esquire, on the 2nd September, 1802. He gives to his wife £50, and also all furniture, beds, bedding, linen, plate, wine, liquors, garden tools and effects and all effects in nature of furniture either useful or ornamental in and about his house and premises at Woodford. He also gives the house at Woodford, with outhouses, gardens and appurtenances, and all real and personal estate to his wife and his son-in-law James Farrer, of Lincoln's Inn Fields, upon trust to pay out of rents an annuity of £400 to his wife for life, quarterly, and all rest of rents, etc., out of said real and personal estate to his daughter Frances Farrer for life, and if her husband survives her then to him and their issue equally. His wife and James Farrer are executrix and executor. The Will is signed William Loxham, with only one witness, William Webb (mark).

By Codicils dated 29th November, 1802, and 10th December, 1806, he gives to his wife £50 and a further annuity of £200, and to his nephew Richard Loxham, of New Inn, £100. Both Codicils are signed, but owing to the absence of witnesses, Thomas Atkinson, of Newcastle House, Lincoln's Fields, Middlesex, Esq., and Thomas Johnston, of same place, Esq., appeared on the 10th June, 1807, and testified to the writing. They say that they knew William Loxham for many years, and that he died in February last.

His death is thus recorded in The Times, of Monday, the 23rd February, 1807:—

"On Friday last, at his house in Woodford, William Loxham, Esq."

The Will was proved, with two Codicils (P.C.C. 508 Lushington), 20th June, 1807, by Mary, the relict, and James Farrer. This Will and the pedigree correct the Farrer of Ingleborough pedigree in the current edition of Burke's Landed Gentry (1925), where it states that James Farrer married Frances, only daughter and heiress of the Rev. William Loxham, late of Woodford, Essex. This error has persisted in the various editions of the work for some seventy years. These Farrers at one time quartered the following Loxham coat, viz.: or three guttée de sang a bend gu. Burke's Landed Gentry, 4th edition, 1863.

It will be noticed that the Hale End property is variously referred to as being in both Walthamstow and Woodford, and in this connection it may be well to mention that this William Loxham has nothing to do with "The Chestnuts" at Hale End, but lived on the High Road, Woodford, on a much larger estate, the annual value of which in 1804 was £60. The house, I believe, was the one now known as "The Roses."

Ann Loxham, sister of Elizabeth Loxham, who married her cousin, Robert Loxham, of Hale End, made her Will on the 22nd August, 1817, as late of Hickney, Lincolnshire. She leaves £100 and clothes to her sister Elizabeth, wife of Robert Loxham, of Walthamstow, Essex, gent.

The will was proved 9th December, 1817 (P.C.C. 633 Effingham), by her brother, the Rev. Robert Loxham.

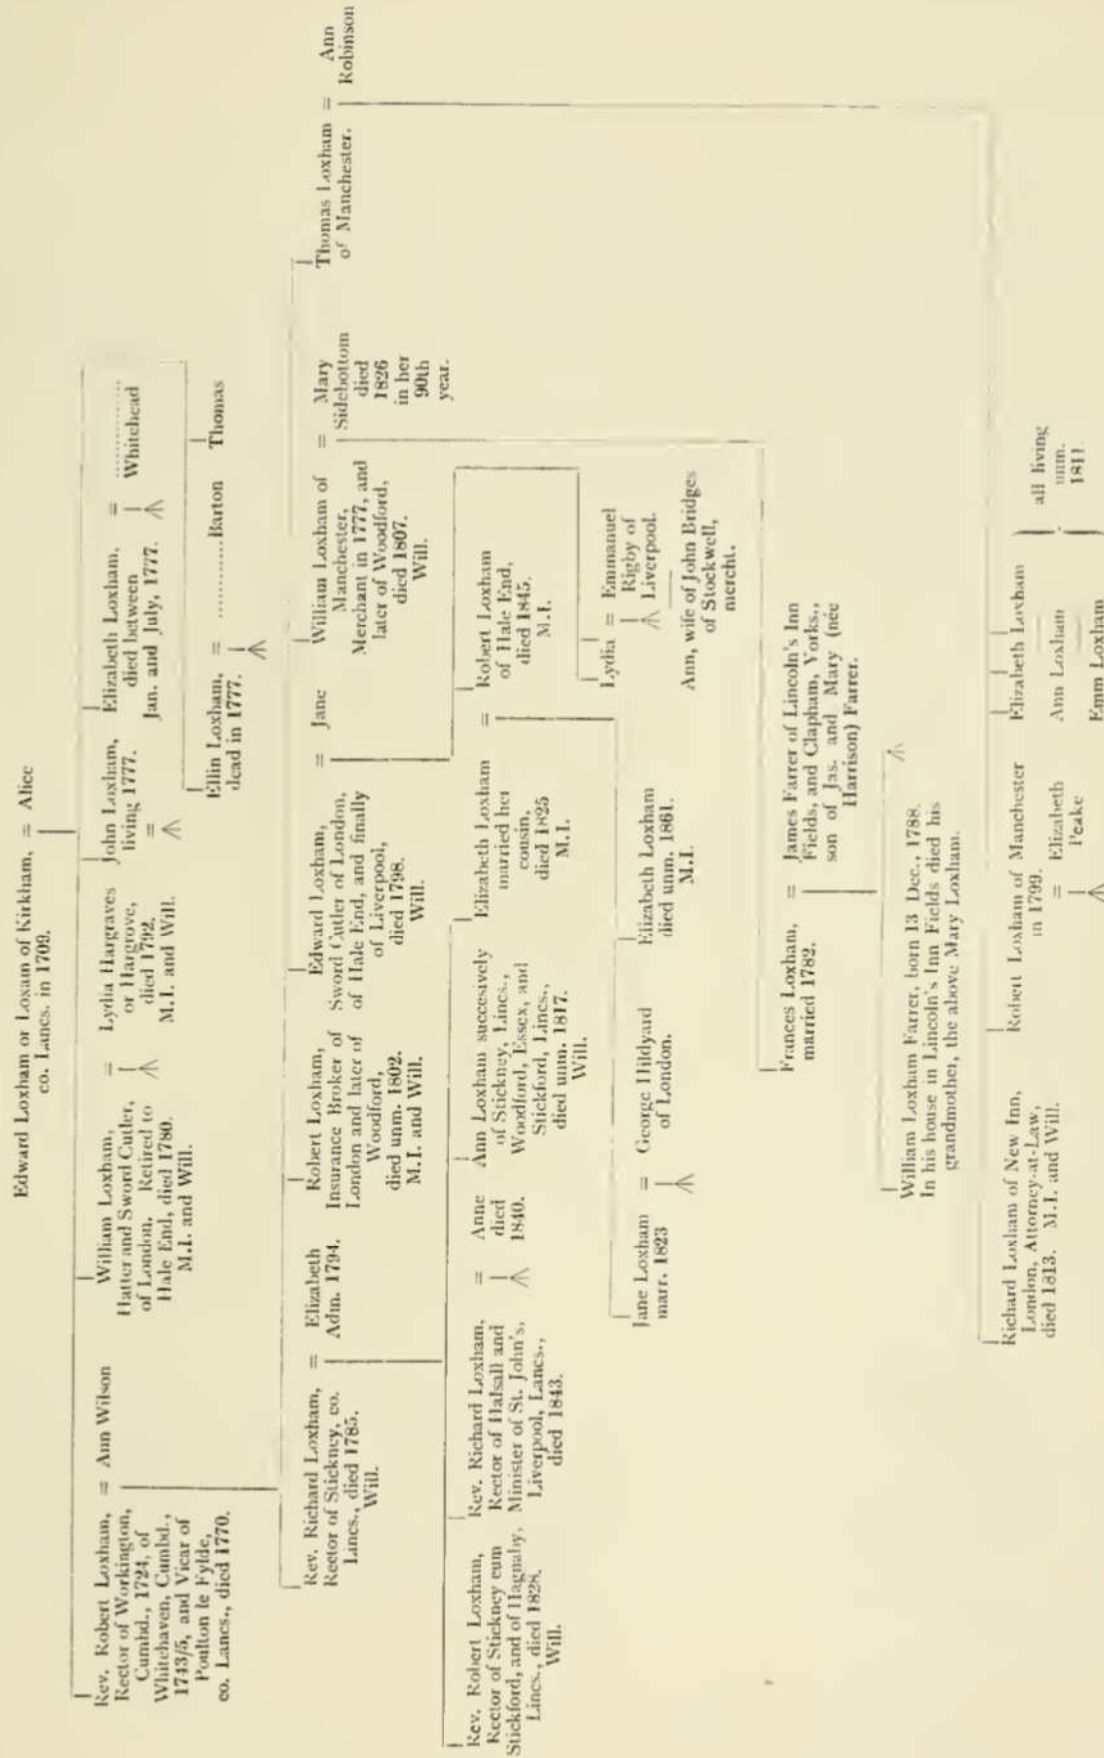

The will of the last named, dated 17th April, 1820, and proved 22nd December, 1828 (P.C.C. 720 Sutton), by his brother the Rev. Richard Loxham, mentions inter alia his sister, wife of Robert Loxham, of Walthamstow, Essex, to whom he leaves £100.

The Walthamstow Rate Book for 1830 gives the Rental of the House at Hale End as £50 and of the Land £20, and the Assessment in the Combined Rental as £11 17s. 0d.

The name frequently occurs in the Lists of Woodford ratepayers such as Lydia in 1786, Robert in 1795, and William in 1796. There is an Altar-tomb in Woodford Churchyard to the above William Loxham (d. 1807) and his wife Mary (d. 1826), and seven members of the Farrer family.

PEDIGREE OF PAMPLIN FAMILY.

APPENDIX III.

THE WRAGG FAMILY.

Members of the Wragg family seem to have carried people to London and back to Walthamstow, first in their coaches and later in their omnibuses, for over 100 years.

The name first appears in the Poor Rate Books for Lady Day, 1759, to September, 1759, under Marsh Street, as follows :—

Mr. Francis Ragg's house rent	£20
For Mr. Mill's land	20
For Blunt's lands	26

The previous tenant was Mr. Harlande, with the same lands.

In the Assessment for Poor Rate, made 15th July, 1782, the corresponding entry is as follows :—

Mr. Francis Wragg's House	£22
For Buxton's land	26
„ the barn	3
„ „ „	4

This entry continued until the Assessment for Michaelmas, 1794, to Lady Day, 1795, when the tenant of the house, but with different lands, is his kinsman Edward Camppen, rent of house being £24, as mentioned in connection with Inscription No. 18.

The first named Francis Wragg married, at St. Mary's Church, 20th March, 1759, Elizabeth Watts, of West Ham. He was Overseer 1770-1771, and Churchwarden 1775-1777. He died without issue, and his Will, as of Walthamstow, coachmaster, dated 19th November, 1781, was proved (P.C.C. 51 Cornwallis) 8th January, 1783.

An Abstract of the Will follows :—

To wife Elizabeth, my executrix, £300 with all my plate, rings, wearing apparel, household goods, furniture, also my copyhold messuages, or tenements, in Wood Street, Walthamstow, now in the occupation of John Holeya, William Bigg and Stracey Till of Sharndle (sic) Street, in Walthamstow, with bond for £120. After death of wife said copyhold to my nephew Francis Wragg, with said bond of said Wm. Bigg. Also to said nephew Francis Wragg £50. To niece Sarah Wragg, nephew Robert Wragg, niece Elizabeth Corder of Castle Hedingham widow, nephew Francis Campion, now of Kingston-on-Thames, nephew Thomas Campion, now of Coleman Street, London, and nephew Edmund Campion of Coleman Street, aforesaid, £50 each, Edmund Campion to have deducted from his £50, £30 he owes me. To two children of Elizabeth Corder, £20 to be given to said Elizabeth for their use. To Mrs. Elizabeth Sutton, now of Marsh Street, Walthamstow, widow, £5 for mourning. To said wife £50 in trust for use of my nephew Thomas Walls, during his apprenticeship. To said wife, in trust, for her niece Edith Watts, an infant, £200 in Three Per Cent. stock until she becomes of age, or marriage with consent of my said wife. All stock in trade, coaches, horses, and harness and furniture thereunto belonging to be sold and money arising to be laid out and invested in the name of my wife and she to receive the interest after paying legacies, etc. To my old servant John Robertson 5 guineas, wife and nephew Edmund Campion executors. All rest to wife and at her death to my said nephew Francis Wragg. The Will is signed by mark, "he declared he could only make his mark." Witnesses: Robert Leslie, Joseph Collis and John Wiute.

By a Codicil, dated at Walthamstow, 7th December, 1782, to which he again made his mark before the following witnesses, viz.: Robert Leslie, George Turner and James Coleclowgh, he alters his Will as follows :— With respect to residue of my property I give same to Edmund Campion instead of to Francis Wragg my nephew. Also sum of £50 given to Francis Wragg to go to Robert Wragg my nephew.

The Will was proved by the two executors.

His relict, Elizabeth, made her Will as late of Walthamstow, but now of Tottenham High Cross, co. Middlesex. The £300 first mentioned in her husband's Will she gives to her niece Edith Turner, heretofore Watts, now wife of John Turner, of Tottenham High Cross, smith, and leaves all rest to him and his wife, they to be executor and executrix. She signs the Will, which is dated 9th February, 1793, and it was proved by the said J. T. and E. T., 7th October, 1802 (P.C.C. 788 Kenyon), the witnesses being John Bond, senior, John Bond, junior, and Richard Woodmeston, of Tokenhouse Yard.

It will be noted that throughout the registered copy of the Will of the husband the name Camppen is mis-spelt Campion.

The coaching business was carried on by his nephew, Francis Wragg, who was Churchwarden 1792-1794, and an Abstract of his Will (P.C.C. 354 Newcastle) follows :—

Francis Wragg, of Walthamstow, Essex, coachmaster. To wife Elizabeth £500 4^o/₁₀₀ Consolidated Bank Annuities. All rest to wife Elizabeth, she and said James Copley executrix and executor. Dated 21st March, 1795, signed Francis Wragg. Witnesses: John Crawley, William Robinson and Jos. Chalk. Proved at London by the relict and J. C. 4th May, 1795.

His death is thus recorded in The Gentleman's Magazine, vol. 65, part 1, page 358:—

“8th April at Walthamstow, Mr. Wragg, many years master of the stage coaches there.”

Administration of the goods of the sister-in-law of the last named, viz., Mary Wragg, relict of his brother Robert, she being described as formerly of Castle Heddingham and late of Walthamstow, was granted, 28th January, 1818 (P.C.C. Act Book) to Robert Wragg, one of her children.

This Robert Wragg continued the family business in Marsh Street, with which he combined that of farmer and corndealer, also in Marsh Street.

The following reference from Pigot & Co.'s Directory, 1826/7, which refers to him, is of interest. It is taken from the Walthamstow section, sub coaches:—

“To London Mr. Wragg's, from the Nag's Head, and Chequers, daily, at 8, 9 and 10 in the morning, and 3, 5, 6 and 8 in the evening to the Green Dragon, Bishopsgate Street.”

In the 1832/4 edition the notice is as follows:—

“To London, Robert Wragg's coaches, from Walthamstow, every morning (Sunday excepted) at 8, 9 and 10, every afternoon at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 2, $\frac{1}{2}$ past 5 and every evening at 7; and on Sunday morning at 8 and 9 and Sunday evening at 6, 7 and 8.”

He occurs under “Livery Stable Keepers and Fly Proprietors” in this edition, and is “licensed to let post horses, chaises and flies.”

He was Overseer 1822-1823 and Churchwarden 1829-1831.

In his Will, dated 11th February, 1850, he is described as of Walthamstow, yeoman. The Will was proved for under £2,000 (P.C.C. 1862, 123), 3rd February, 1862, by his son Francis Wragg, of Walthamstow, farmer, with power reserved to John Wragg, of The Pavement, Finsbury, Middlesex, livery stable keeper, also son of the testator, and the other executor.

In 1848 Robert is described as a gent., of Marsh Street, and his son Robert as a corndealer at the same address, while in 1851 Francis, another son, carries on his father's business as coach proprietor in Marsh Street, and Robert is a farmer in Marsh Street. The year 1850 sees Francis in sole charge of the business, as his brother Robert died in 1846, a comparatively young man, aged 36.

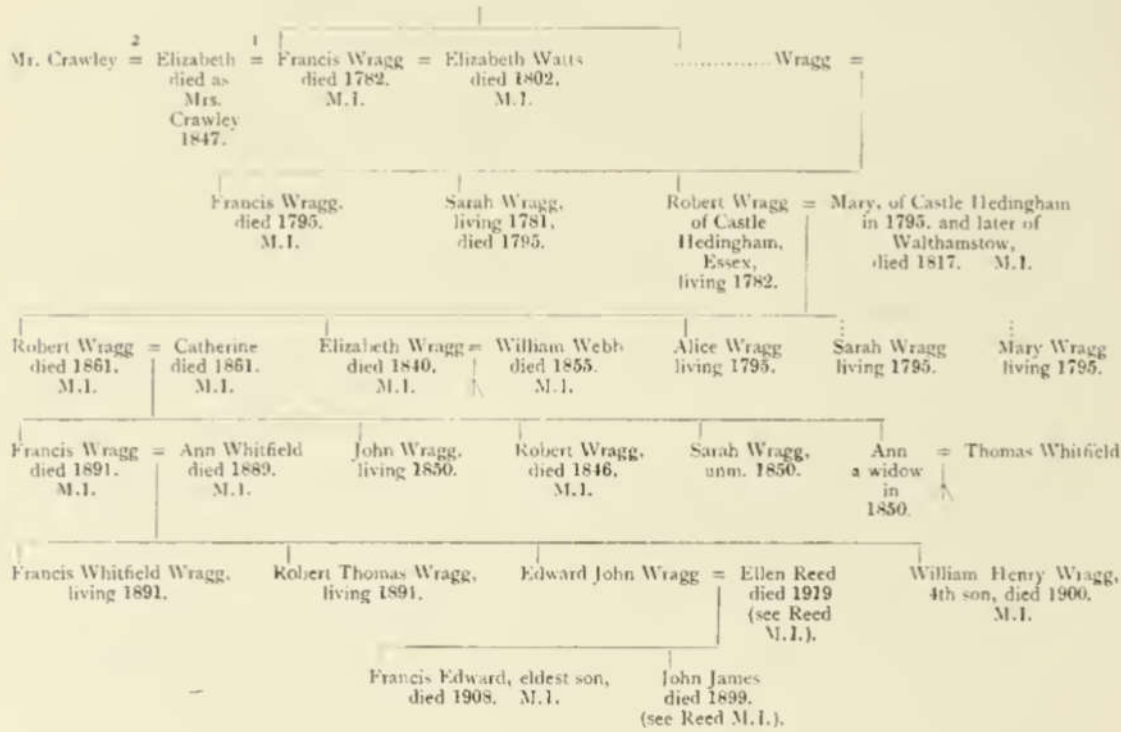

Francis Wragg married by licence, at St. Mary's Church, Ann Whitfield, of Wanstead, 16th February, 1837. He was Overseer 1854-1855 and 1856-1857, Churchwarden 1858-1859, and Surveyor of Highways 1861. In 1848 he is described as a farmer, at Clay Street, where he is a horse and gig owner, and has livery stables, running coaches to London seven times a day. In 1862 he is an omnibus owner at Church End, also a farmer there, while 1886 finds him living at Fairmount, Church Hill. His Will, dated 7th May, 1891, as of Church Hill, where he died, was proved for personal estate of £4,902 (P.C.C. 1891, 1198) by his two sons, Francis Whitfield Wragg, of 17, Church Lane, Whitechapel, veterinary surgeon, and Robert Thomas Wragg, of 11, Great St. Helens, London, solicitor.

The under-mentioned have death notices in The Times :—

- Catharine Wragg in issue of 6th February, 1861.
- Robert Wragg in issue of 23rd July, 1861.
- Ann Wragg in issue of 24th December, 1889.
- Francis Wragg in issue of 30th November, 1891.
- William Henry Wragg in issue of 15th January, 1900
